The Lodge

The lodge is nestled on the edge of the National Park, ideally located for bringing together the beauty of the surrounding landscape with the fantastic atmosphere found in the village of Cómpeeta.

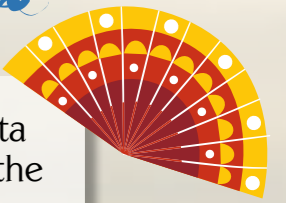

The lodge is divided between two villas and three log cabins and sits in over two acres of tranquil gardens and pine trees. The pool is open all year round and there is also a pool side honesty bar for guests to use.

All our produce is sourced from the local community and we continue to interact and support small businesses throughout the region.

About Cómputa

Long known as the pearl of La Axarquía, the town of Cómputa is located 700 metres above sea level with stunning views of the surrounding mountains, countryside and Mediterranean.

Cómputa is best known to many for its locally produced wine, available both dry and sweet, as well as being plentiful and cheap. One of the most popular annual fiestas here is the Noche del Vino (Night of the Wine) on the 15th August, which features a programme of flamenco and Sevillana music and dance, plus plenty of free-flowing vino. Apparently, the locals reputedly prefer the sweeter wines, while the foreign residents and tourists like the dry.

This area is particularly popular with Scandinavians, many of whom have renovated old farmhouses and fincas in the vicinity.

Cómputa

Nestled in the hills with the Sierra Tejida and Sierra Almijara mountains beyond, this beautiful white village boasts spectacular scenery, healthy mountain air and friendly hospitality.

A steady influx of foreigners has proved positive for the locals in helping to slow down the former inevitable migration of young people to the cities and coast.

These days Cómpeeta is self sufficient and thriving, providing its 3,000 inhabitants with a municipal market and a fresh daily supply of meat, fish and vegetables.

It is a charming flower bedecked old town with its main centre, the Plaza Almijara, dominated by a magnificent sixteenth century church. This bustling square is one of the best places to relax with a choice of bars and restaurants.

Cómpeeta is fascinating to explore with its labyrinth of narrow cobbled streets that date back to Moorish times. The town is located less than an hour from Málaga airport on the Motril bypass, so ideal for a day trip, as well as an overnight stay for those who want to explore the area further or continue their journey into the province of Granada.

The end of January and early February is the Almond blossom season, visit then to see beautiful landscapes in Cómpeeta and the surrounding villages of La Axarquía.
